It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT
THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

---

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, D. C., December 2, 1889.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled :

Complying with the law, I respectfully submit the following report of the business of the Department of Justice during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, with statistics of crime against the United States, and a statement of the appropriations under the control of the Attorney-General.

BUSINESS OF THE SUPREME COURT.

The docket of the Supreme Court of the United States at the close of the last term, as compared with its condition at the close of the term next preceding, shows an increase of 133 cases undisposed of, appellate and original.

At the close of the October term, 1887, there remained undisposed of on the appellate docket 1,013 cases, and on the original 2 cases. The number of cases docketed at the October term, 1888, was 556, of which 550 were on the appellate and 6 on the original docket, making the total number of cases on the docket at that term, 1,571, of which 1,563 were on the appellate and 8 on the original docket. Of this number, 423 were disposed of, and of these, 417 were on the appellate, and 6 on the original docket.

The number of cases actually considered by the court was 289, of which 188 were argued orally, and 101 submitted on printed arguments.

Of the 417 appellate cases disposed of, 147 were affirmed, 95 reversed, 96 dismissed, 76 settled by the parties and dismissed, and in 3 cases questions certified to the court were answered.

The number of cases decided at this term, (October term, 1888) in which the United States was concerned was 53, of which 24 were decided in favor of and 25 against the United States, and in 4 criminal cases questions certified were answered.

Of those in which the United States appealed, 18 were affirmed, 12 reversed, and 2 dismissed. Fifteen of the cases were appeals from the Court of Claims, in 11 of which the judgment was affirmed and in 4 reversed. Besides the cases in which the United States was concerned that were decided, there were 2 others dismissed by the court, and of these 1 was dismissed at the instance of the United States and 1 at the instance of the other side.

Thus the total number of cases disposed of at the October term, 1888, in which the United States was interested, was 55. The above does not include 1 case on the appellate docket from the Court of Claims, in which the District of Columbia was a party.

BUSINESS OF THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

Since the last report 309 suits, claiming upward of $2,000,000, have been brought, under the ordinary jurisdiction of the court.

The total number of such cases now pending is 1,187, claiming upward of $20,500,000.

Under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman Act, there have been transmitted to the court to date 7,232 cases. The amount claimed can not be stated, but involves a very large sum.

During the last term 279 cases, claiming about $1,488,752.49, were acted on by the court and have been or will be reported to Congress. Of this number 161 cases, claiming $780,796.04, were dismissed.

In 118 cases, claiming $707,956.45, findings favorable to claimants were filed by the court, so far as is shown by the findings, for $105,600.10.

There are now pending 6,417 cases, involving, so far as can be ascertained from the petitions and other papers received, upward of $350,000,000.

Under the same act there have been transmitted by heads of Departments, to date, 36 cases.

Four of these cases were acted on by the court during the term, and the findings and opinion of the court certified to the Department transmitting the claim.

There are now pending 6 cases in which the court is asked to pass upon certain disputed questions, the determination of which will settle claims involving large amounts.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

There were brought to trial 191 suits, claiming $2,304,271.98. In 35 of these, claiming $565,189.53, judgment was for defendant.

In 156 cases, claiming $1,739,082.45, judgment was for claimants for $1,421,156.71.

Nine cases, claiming $5,573.08, were dismissed, on defendant's motion, for want of prosecution. Five cases, claiming $157,595.05, were dismissed on claimants' motion, and one case, claiming $144, was discontinued.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Of these, there were brought to trial five suits, claiming $50,064.74, and judgment was rendered in them in favor of claimants for $33,468.34.

There are now pending 28 cases, claiming upward of $1,358,960.

FRENCH SPOILIATION CASES.

Five thousand five hundred and sixty-nine petitions, representing 2,386 vessels and about $30,000,000, have been filed in the Court of Claims under the act of January 20, 1885, commonly known as the French Spoliation Act.

Of these cases, each petition being treated as a case, 155 have been dismissed on claimants' motions, and the court has reported to Congress, with findings favorable to claimants, 276 other cases, amounting to $1,651,439.05. It has also reported 30 cases adversely to claimants, and has decided 12 other cases, in whole or in part, adversely to claimants, but has not yet reported its conclusions and findings to Congress in them, for the reason that they have been placed on the new trial docket for the term 1889-90.

Twenty-eight other cases, heretofore argued, have been remanded for re-argument and they are now on the docket.

In addition to these there are 101 cases on the trial docket for the present term.

The average amount of the findings in the above 276 cases is $5,983.47. If the same average shall be applied to the 155 cases dismissed by claimants, and the 30 cases reported to Congress adversely to them, making 185 in all, they would aggregate $1,106,941.95. As the cases last named have not been passed upon by the court, there is no criterion by which the actual amount involved in them can be arrived at; hence this average to approximate the amount.

Experience has shown from the trials and findings in this class of cases, that the findings for claimants have fallen far below the amounts claimed, from which it may reasonably be concluded that the estimate of $30,000,000 will exceed the amount for which the Government may be ultimately found liable.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE ACT GIVING CIRCUIT AND DISTRICT COURTS OF THE UNITED STATES CONCURRENT JURISDICTION WITH THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

Under the provisions of section 6 of the act approved March 3, 1887, (Forty-ninth Congress, second session, chapter 359) copies of petitions in suits for settlement of claims in the circuit and district courts of the United States have been received in this office in 797 cases, which may be classified as follows:

In all these cases the petitions have been referred to the several Departments, before which the matters would ordinarily be brought for examination, with a request that this Department be advised, for the instruction of the defending district attorneys, of any matters of counter-claim, set-off, or defense within the knowledge of the officers of those Departments. Such replies as have been received to these requests have been furnished to the several district attorneys. Such requests for advice in the preparation of defenses as have been received from district attorneys have been or will be promptly complied with. Some of these cases have been heard since the last report, and, where I have deemed it necessary, appeals have been directed to be taken to the Supreme Court. Three cases so appealed from the circuit court for the district of Oregon have been determined, the Supreme Court reversing the decrees of the court below.

Many of the cases brought under this jurisdiction are class cases, so that the determination by the court of final resort disposes of a large number at one time.

In accordance with this act, the Attorney-General, on February 21, 1889, certified to Congress the judgments pending at that date and which had not been appealed, 19 in number, amounting to $16,304.88. Congress failed to appropriate for the same.

UNITED STATES PRISONERS.

As has been the custom for a number of years, the usual examinations of the penitentiaries, prisons, and reformatories where United States prisoners are confined have been made, and every attention paid by the Department's agents to the care and treatment of the prisoners of the United States. The reports of the agents show the penitentiaries to be generally in good condition and the convicts humanely treated and well cared for.

UNITED STATES PENITENTIARY AND A UNITED STATES REFORMATORY.

I will not repeat what has been stated heretofore, but would respectfully call your attention to the several reports of my predecessors. With each year the need of Government penal institutions becomes more apparent. In the present situation of affairs the Department is compelled to rely upon the several State institutions for the care and maintenance of Government convicts. Owing to the agitation of the labor question, a number of States have passed laws prohibiting the employment of prisoners on contract labor. Congress, on February 23, 1887, passed an act prohibiting the employment of United States prisoners on contract labor. The result has been that many institutions throughout the country have been compelled to change their system of labor, and as a result have not been self-supporting. This, together with the fact that United States prisoners can no longer be employed on contract labor, has obliged the penitentiary authorities to charge the Government stated per diems for the subsistence of United States prisoners, whereas heretofore they were able to keep them without charge, the extra expense being but small, and the labor of the prisoners more than compensating for the cost.

Again, the legislatures in several States have enacted laws to the effect that no prisoners convicted outside of the State can be received in the several penal institutions of the State. In many of the districts of the United States there is no penitentiary suitable for the confinement of Government convicts, and the Attorney-General is compelled to make arrangements for their incarceration in prisons situated in other States and Territories. At the present time there is not a single institution in the country which will receive United States prisoners free of cost. The number of penitentiaries which will receive United States prisoners from outside the State at all is becoming limited, and in some cases the transfer of Government convicts from one penitentiary to another becomes necessary in view of the vacillating enactments of the legislatures in the several States. Should all the States in which suitable penitentiaries are located enact laws excluding United States prisoners, the Government will be compelled to hire quarters for its criminals, or to designate institutions which are in no way proper places for their confinement.

A large proportion of the prisoners of the United States are those who have committed but one offense against the laws of their country. Their lives theretofore have in a great many instances been exemplary. This one yielding to temptation has been the cause of their downfall. If such persons could be confined in an institution where contact with the criminal classes could be avoided, their reformation would often be speedy and complete, since their inclination in life is not towards crime. For the confinement of such prisoners, and especially for juveniles, in my opinion, a model United States reformatory should be built and conducted on the most approved plan.

The United States penitentiary should be provided for the reception of others than those who have committed their first offense. The number of this class is amply large to warrant the building of a good institution.

It seems to me that the United States should not be compelled to depend upon the several States for places in which to confine its prisoners.

PRISON BUREAU.

It is urged with much force that a prison bureau should be established in the Department of Justice, where could be gathered, collated, and recorded in a permanent form the criminal statistics of the United States. It is impossible at the present time to find any office or bureau where information concerning crime and criminals in this country can be obtained. The criminal statistics of the United States can not be compared with those of other nations. The advantages of such a bureau to the Government, State, county and municipal officers and the public generally, would be invaluable. This prison bureau could be made the central office of the Bertillon system of measurements for the identification of criminals. It is believed the several States and Territories would co-operate and heartily indorse such a plan, and it would undoubtedly meet with the favor of the wardens and superintendents of the several penitentiaries.

I earnestly urge an appropriation necessary to carry out the above recommendations.

STATISTICS.

During the year ending June 30, 1889, there were received in the different penitentiaries, reformatories, etc., throughout the United States 1,083 prisoners. The total number in custody during the year was 2,307. There were discharged during the year 1,055, and on the 30th day of June, 1889, there were still in confinement 1,252. Of the 1,055 discharged there were 944 by expiration of sentences, 38 died, 49 were pardoned, 19 released by writ of habeas corpus, and 5 transferred to the insane asylum.

Of the 1,083 prisoners received during the year 29 were committed for violation of the revenue laws, 146 for counterfeiting, 119 for violation of the postal laws, and 657 for other offenses; 621 were born in the United States and 330 were foreign born; 951 were males and 132 were females; 601 claimed to be temperate and 350 admitted themselves to be intemperate; there were 734 whites, 163 blacks, 39 Indians, and 15 Chinese; 778 could read and write, 35 could read only, 138 could neither read nor write; 547 were married and 404 were single; 859 were in prison for the first time and 92 had heretofore served sentence; 118 were under 20 years of age when admitted, 275 between 20 and 30, 185 between 30 and 40, 157 between 40 and 50 and 216 over 50 years of age. Of the 1,252 prisoners in confinement on the 30th day of June, 1889, 220 were idle, 24 disabled or sick, 150 were working "on contract," 82 "on piece price," 421 "on State account," and 345 on prison duties.

Attached to my report (Exhibit L) is a detailed statement giving the names of the penitentiaries used by the Government during the past year, their locations, the names of the wardens, districts from which United States prisoners have been received during the past year, and detailed statistics of each institution, such as are referred to in the above general summary.

JAIL, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Your attention is invited to the following suggestions in relation to the United States jail in the District of Columbia:

A divided jurisdiction, such as at present exists, can not but render the management of the jail unsatisfactory. Action should be taken to place the entire control under some one authority, and as the Attorney-General is required to pass upon and approve all disbursements of funds, it would seem proper that the jail should be placed entirely under his supervision.

The need of a separate wing for female prisoners certainly commends itself as important. It is earnestly hoped that some action in this connection will be taken.

The building of a wall about the jail inclosure is greatly needed. As the jail stands at present it is open to the commons and easy of access to outsiders. An appropriation for this purpose should be made.

The removal of the small-pox hospital, which is now within the jail inclosure, should receive attention.

During the administration of my predecessor the salaries of the different officials employed at the jail, with the exception of the warden, were arranged upon an equitable basis. The compensation of the warden, which is fixed by an act of Congress, is too small for the duties of the office and responsibilities involved. In my opinion, the salary of the warden should be increased from $1,800 to $2,500 per annum.

The report of the warden is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit N.

THE NEAGLE-TERRY CASE.

Information was brought to the Attorney-General last spring that David S. Terry and Sarah Althea Terry, his wife, were possessed by a very bitter feeling of hostility toward Mr. Justice Stephen J. Field of the Supreme Court, and Judge Lorenzo Sawyer of the circuit court of the ninth circuit; that this feeling of hostility had its origin in a decision made by these judges in the circuit court for the northern district of California in 1888, in a suit to which said Terrys were parties; that further litigation was still pending in that court to be passed upon during the summer circuit for 1889, and that there was great danger that violence would be attempted upon the persons of Mr. Justice Field and Judge Sawyer by the Terrys during said summer session.

So strong were these representations, and so convincing the evidence brought in their support, that I became satisfied unusual means should be provided for the protection of those judges. Accordingly I instructed the United States marshal for the northern district of California to furnish such protection. In pursuance of these instructions Marshal Franks directed Deputy Marshal David Neagle to attend upon the person of Mr. Justice Field, while in and about his circuit duties in California during the summer. The event proved the wisdom of these precautions.

On the morning of the 14th day of August, while at breakfast at the railroad eating house at Lathrop, on his way from Los Angeles, where he had been holding a session of the circuit court, to San Francisco, for the purpose of holding a session of the circuit court there, Mr. Justice Field was violently assaulted by David S. Terry, under such circumstances as evinced a purpose to revenge his fancied grievances, even at the expense of taking the life of Mr. Justice Field; and thereupon said Neagle, in the necessary defense of the life of Mr. Justice Field, shot and killed David S. Terry.

Proceedings were commenced, on account of this homicide, against Mr. Justice Field and Deputy Marshal Neagle with a view to their trial in the State courts of California. These proceedings, so far as Mr. Justice Field was concerned, were soon abandoned, but were prosecuted against the deputy marshal until he was released from the custody of the State officer upon a writ of habeas corpus issued out of the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of California. From the judgment of that court discharging him from the custody of the sheriff, the State of California has appealed, and such appeal is now pending in the Supreme Court of the United States. The question at issue is, whether the circuit court was authorized to discharge the deputy marshal from arrest, under State law, for that homicide, or whether, as the State contends, the jurisdiction of the State court in the premises is exclusive.

LAWLESSNESS.

Very soon after the 4th of March last, it was brought to my attention that, at the then recent Congressional elections, there were very serious and far-reaching violations of the Federal laws relating to such elections. It was charged that, by intimidation of voters, by seizing and destroying ballot-boxes, by substitution of false ballots, by false returns, by bribery of voters and election officers, and by various other means well known to those engaged in this nefarious business, the popular will was stifled and falsified and returns obtained wholly at variance with what would have been the result of a free and fair vote honestly counted. In every case where such charges were brought to the attention of this Department, instructions were given to the district attorneys to investigate and prosecute to the utmost of their power, every person implicated in such violations of Federal laws, and I am happy to be able to report that in a number of Districts such prosecutions have been successful.

A large number of indictments have been returned; upon some of them trials have been had; in a number of cases convictions have been obtained, and in some instances the culprits have pleaded guilty and asked for mercy at the hands of the court. A large number of these cases are still pending, and the instructions to the district attorneys are still to push them to the end. It is proper to say that in some cases efforts have been made, some of them very recently, to prevent and cripple these prosecutions by attempts to intimidate the marshal from serving process, and witnesses from giving their testimony; such intimidation going to the extent of actual assassination.

But it must not be supposed that hostility to the United States courts and United States officers is confined to election matters. On the contrary, the records of the Department of Justice show that in some districts civil actions in these courts and criminal prosecutions wholly disconnected with the elective franchise, can not proceed, because the lives of necessary witnesses are in such danger, that it would be simply inhuman to enforce their attendance and the giving of their testimony; while the evidence is abundant, that, in certain localities no occupation is so dangerous as a faithful performance of duty by United States marshals. Of course, such lawlessness can not be tolerated. In every case the instructions to prosecute have been coupled with the assurance, that, no means within the power of this Department will be spared to protect officers and witnesses in the discharge of their duties, and to bring to punishment every man who illegally attempts to thwart such prosecutions.

THE BELL TELEPHONE CASE.

Since the last report of the Attorney-General the suit of the United States against the American Bell Telephone Company, to cancel patents, numbers 174465 and 186787, has been vigorously prosecuted. The Telephone Company demurred to the bill pending in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Massachusetts, upon the ground "that no power or authority in law exists in any person or party or any court to bring said suit, nor to entertain the same, nor to give any relief thereunder, or touching the subject-matter thereof."

This demurrer was sustained in the circuit court, but, upon appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, that decision, on the 12th day of November, 1888, was reversed. Such proceedings were thereupon had in the circuit court, Alexander Graham Bell having in the meantime been made a party, that early last summer the suit was at issue and an examiner appointed to take testimony. Afterward the Telephone Company applied to the circuit court for leave to withdraw its answer, and to file an amended answer. Leave was granted by the court over the objections of the Government counsel, and on the 5th day of October, 1889, the plea and answer were filed by the company. To this a general replication has been filed, and the case is again ready for the taking of testimony.

MORMON CHURCH RECEIVERSHIP.

The proceedings commenced under the act of March 3, 1887 (24 Statutes at Large, page 635), requiring the Attorney-General to institute suits to forfeit property in Utah illegally held, and to close up and settle the affairs of the Mormon Church and the Perpetual Emigration Fund Company, resulted in a decree in favor of the Government, which now awaits the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, upon an appeal from the supreme court of the Territory of Utah. The appeal was argued at the last term, and is under advisement.

POTOMAC FLATS LITIGATION.

The suit for the settlement of the title to the Potomac flats has been pushed forward as rapidly as practicable during the past year. The evidence has been largely taken, and I am advised by the special counsel in charge of the case that it will be ready for hearing at the next general term of the supreme court of the District.

OTHER SUITS BROUGHT IN COMPLIANCE WITH ACTS OF CONGRESS.

Acts were passed by the last Congress requiring proceedings to be commenced by the Attorney-General in a number of cases for the settlement of the rights of the United States.

First. An act of Congress of August 7, 1888 (25 Statutes at Large, page 382), requires all telegraph lines subsidized by the Government, by and through their own respective corporate officers and employes, to maintain and operate for railroad, governmental, commercial, and all other purposes such telegraph lines; and, also, requires the Attorney-General, by proper proceedings, to prevent any unlawful interference with the rights and equities of the United States in relation to such telegraph lines.

In pursuance of these requirements a suit has been commenced in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Nebraska, against the Union Pacific Railway Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, for the determination of the questions involved and the enforcement of the rights of the United States. Other suits, doubtless, will be necessary, but this has been brought first as a test suit.

Second. Proceedings have also been commenced in pursuance of the act of March 1, 1889 (25 Statutes at Large, page 768), for the settlement of the titles to lands claimed by and under the Black Bob band of Shawnee Indians in Kansas.

Third. In pursuance of the act of March 2, 1889 (25 Statutes at Large, page 850), proceedings have been commenced in the United States circuit court for the State of Oregon for the forfeiture of wagon-road land grants, referred to in said resolution.

In addition to the foregoing, suits have been commenced on the request of the Department of the Interior to recover a very large amount of lands alleged to have been improperly patented to the State of Iowa for the use of the Sioux City and St. Paul Railroad Company in the State of Iowa; also, to recover lands alleged to have been improperly patented to the same State for the use of the Des Moines River Navigation Company.

All of said proceedings are being pushed forward as rapidly as practicable.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GENERAL FOR DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

An estimate has been made for the pay of an Assistant Attorney-General for the Department of Agriculture. The necessity of this need not be argued. That Department has continual and urgent need for such an officer; not only for counsel in the ordinary routine matters of the Department, but also because it is continually brought face to face with questions of law, and is often drawn into litigation, in its efforts to restrict and stamp out contagious diseases affecting agricultural interests all over the country.

ADDITIONAL ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GENERAL IN DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

I have also recommended the appointment and made an estimate for the compensation of an additional Assistant Attorney-General, to be located in this Department. Since the working force of the Department was organized the business has grown to such magnitude, and the current business, both in the courts and in the Department, has been so enlarged that the Attorney-General, the Solicitor-General, and one Assistant Attorney-General, all the force available for the general legal business of the Department outside of the Court of Claims, are inadequate to the work in hand. The result is that the other Departments are often greatly delayed in obtaining opinions upon questions of law to which they are entitled, and which ought to be rendered promptly.

Moreover, crowded as these officers are, no sufficient attention can be given to the vast litigated interests of the Government pending in the Territorial, district, circuit, and supreme courts.

UNITED STATES ATTORNEY, ARIZONA.

The United States attorney for the Territory of Arizona urges, and it seems to me with good reason, that whereas the United States attorney of each of the other Territories is allowed to make a maximum of $6,000 in the way of fees, he is limited to $3,500. The expense of living and traveling, and the difficulties and responsibilities of the work to be performed by the attorney for Arizona, are not less than in any of the other Territories. I ask that he be put upon an equality with the other United States attorneys.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The law under which provision is made for assistant district attorneys in the District of Columbia was passed in 1870, and allows only four thousand dollars for the pay of such assistants. Since the enactment of that law the business within the District has increased to such an extent that the force available with such an appropriation is entirely inadequate. Aside from the growth of the District in population, and the consequent increase of criminal business, there is a large amount of civil business, in settling titles to property, defending suits brought against various officers of the Government, and otherwise, for which provision ought to be made, and which can in no way so well be attended to as by assistant attorneys under the general direction of the district attorney and the Attorney-General. The appropriation for this purpose ought to be at least $8,000, instead of $4,000; and, unless such provision is made, the civil business of the Government in the District of Columbia can not receive that attention which its importance demands.

REORGANIZATION OF THE JUDICIARY.

The importance of some change in the judicial system of the United States, which will enable the courts, and especially the Supreme Court, to dispose of the large number of cases now accumulated, and decide current cases as they shall come upon the dockets, can hardly be exaggerated. I am aware that there is among judges and lawyers, as well as laymen, great diversity of opinion as to the manner in which this end shall be accomplished. Numerous plans have been suggested, some formulated into bills which have received the consideration of one or both branches of Congress; and it would, perhaps, be presumptuous in me to urge one or another of these plans as the best. I may, however, safely and properly urge that Congress shall address itself to this subject, with a determination to find a remedy for the crying evil of delay in the administration of justice in some of the circuit courts, and in the Supreme Court; an evil which amounts practically to a denial of justice in a large number of cases.

Without entering into details as to any plan in this matter, I simply suggest, as an illustration of the urgency of doing something, that the eighth circuit, including the two new States of Dakota, consists of nine States, embracing twelve districts and twenty-five divisions. It is, of course, unnecessary to say that no circuit judge can hold the circuit courts as contemplated by the present system in all of these districts. The condition of things in the Supreme Court is still worse, and that court is getting every year further in arrears. The docket of the Supreme Court at the end of 1887 showed an increase of sixty-seven cases during the year, and for 1888 an increase of one hundred and thirty-three cases during the year. In other words the increase was twice as great in the last year as in the one next preceding; and the present state of the business indicates that the proportionate increase of the business will be still greater in the current year. Without further dwelling on this matter, I call special attention to the recommendations upon this subject of my predecessor in each one of his annual reports, and especially to the report of 1885, where he set out in full what was known as the Davis bill.

RESTORATION OF RECORDS.

I also call the attention of Congress to the recommendations found on page XIII of the Report of the Attorney-General for 1888 in reference to the necessity for the restoration and care of the records of the United States courts, and urge that an appropriation be made as therein suggested.

PAY OF ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS AND CHIEF CLERK.

I also concur in the recommendation found on page XIX of the last report of my predecessor for an increase of the compensation of the assistant attorneys and chief clerk in this Department. For the reasons for these changes I refer to that report.

DISPUTED CLAIMS FOR MONEY DUE FROM THE GOVERNMENT.

Many questions are presented for opinions by the various Departments, which arise out of disputes in regard to the right of various claimants to receive money admitted to be due from the Government or in the hands of its officers for distribution. These questions are often most difficult to determine; so difficult that nothing less than judicial investigation can arrive at a satisfactory conclusion in the premises. I suggest, as a remedy, that in such cases the Attorney-General be authorized, according to the general practice of equity, to file a bill of interpleader in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, making the different claimants parties defendant, pay the money into court, have the Government discharged, and leave the parties to settle their controversies among themselves.

REPORT OF THE SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY.

By the report of the Solicitor of the Treasury, (Exhibit I,) it will be seen that he is making great efforts to collect judgments due the United States, many of which have been long in abeyance, and that he has succeeded in collecting a large amount of money. In this work, however, he is hampered by the fact that there is no fund available with which to pay for the services of district attorneys and others in hunting up parties and evidence, and doing the legal work necessary to these collections. As a remedy he suggests that a fund be placed at the disposition of the Attorney-General to be used for this purpose. If this be done, and I recommend that it shall be done, I suggest that it embrace and take the place of the $500 appropriation heretofore made for the prosecution and collection of claims. An estimate for an appropriation of $5,000 for this purpose has been made.

AMENDMENTS OF THE LAWS.

Some months since I addressed a circular letter to the judges of the circuit and district courts asking for suggestions, as to amendments of the laws, which their experience indicated as important. To these letters a number of answers have been received, many of them speaking upon the same subjects and expressing concurrent views. To these, as well as to some amendments which have been otherwise suggested, I ask attention.

DEGREES OF MURDER.

In most of the States a distinction is recognized between degrees of murder, and punishment graded accordingly. In the United States statutes no such distinction is recognized. The result is that convictions are had, and sentences of death imposed, in cases which, according to the practice in most of the States, would be murder in the second degree. As a natural consequence there immediately follows an application for executive clemency. The judge is constrained by the laws to impose a sentence against which his judgment protests, and the only remedy is to immediately importune the President to undo the action of the court by a commutation. I think this should be remedied by statute.

TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION OF CIRCUIT COURTS.

It is certainly anomalous that courts of the same sovereignty should be regarded as foreign to each other, and yet such is in some cases the fact with reference to United States courts. For instance, it has been held, though perhaps the question can not be regarded as settled, that a receiver, appointed by the circuit court of the United States in one district, can not maintain a suit in the circuit court of another district; and the effect of a decree appointing a receiver in one district upon the property belonging to the same person or corporation in another district is doubtful.

It is suggested by judges of much experience, and the suggestion seems to me to be of much force, that it would be an improvement were some legislation had, which, in the appointment of a receiver for instance, would give to the court first taking jurisdiction over a party whose property is found in several districts, the primary right to hear and determine all questions in relation thereto, as in bankruptcy proceedings, and as the courts of one county in a State are given jurisdiction over property in that and other counties of the same State. Authority should also be given to a receiver appointed in one district to bring suit for assets in the Federal courts of any other district.

FEDERAL JURISDICTION OF CRIMES AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

The United States courts ought to have jurisdiction to investigate and punish any crime perpetrated in, and as a part of, the commission of any offense against the laws of the United States. Thus, if in resisting an officer, intimidating a witness, or otherwise violating the Federal laws, murder is committed, the Federal courts ought to have authority to try such murderer for murder. So, provision ought to be made giving Federal courts exclusive jurisdiction for the full and final trial of Federal officers who, while in the discharge of their duties, acting in good faith, as an incident of such a discharge of duty, commit acts which would otherwise be violations of the laws of some State. The constitutional right of Congress to provide for such jurisdiction is recognized in section 643 of the Revised Statutes—a statute upheld by the Supreme Court. Recent events, of great public interest, emphasize the necessity for an extension of such legislation.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS.

From a number of judges, as well as from other sources, comes the information that very great abuses arise out of the action of commissioners of the circuit courts in the amount of fees they make and charge for themselves, as well as those which they assist the marshals, and, in some cases, district attorneys, in making. Whether it is practicable to eliminate entirely the excessive charges in the enormous bills of expense in proceedings had before these commissioners is perhaps doubtful; but certainly Congress, by enacting a clear and definite fee bill for such proceedings, and by providing that no prosecutions shall be commenced except in an emergency shown in an affidavit, until the district attorney shall have approved of the commencement of such proceedings, and by prescribing severe punishment for any violations of the laws so enacted, can do much to repress these abuses and relieve the Treasury from illegal exactions.

THE TERRITORIAL COURT IN THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

The judicial situation in the Indian Territory is anomalous and unsatisfactory. The law organizing a court for that Territory provides for no grand jury, no commissioners, or examining magistrates, and is in other ways defective; but, as this subject is likely to have attention in connection with the erection of a Territorial government for Oklahoma, I need not enlarge upon it.

In connection with this court, however, I call attention to the fact that this court, the court in the western district of Arkansas, and the court recently provided for at Paris, Texas, require an expenditure of money, in the payment of witnesses, that very largely depletes the appropriation made by Congress for that purpose. Indeed, I am advised by the accounting officer of this Department, that the demands of these three courts are such, that, if they are met, the result will be a very large deficiency, or else the courts in other districts will be obliged to stop for want of funds.

In view of these facts the estimate for the payment of witnesses for the next year has been made in the sum of $1,000,000, instead of $900,000, as appropriated for the current year. This item will account for any excess in the estimates of this Department over the estimates for the last year. Aside from this item the aggregate estimates are less than last year.

As illustrating how a failure in the appropriations, resulting in a stoppage of the courts, adds to the expenses of the Government, a statement of the marshal of the western district of Arkansas is printed as Exhibit Q to this report, where it appears that the failure of funds at a single term of court cost the Government $25,000.

I ask attention to this statement also, as an evidence of the vast criminal business of that district, and the efficiency shown in dispatching that business by the court and court officers.

APPEALS IN ADMIRALTY.

It is suggested by a judge of large experience in admiralty matters that section 631, allowing an appeal from a decree in admiralty, where the matter in dispute exceeds $50, should be changed, so as to make the limit $500. A sailor brings a suit for wages and gets a decree for $51; the ship may appeal and put him to great expense and delay. It seems that the judgment of a district judge ought to be conclusive to the amount of $500, at least.

ELECTION LAW.

Section 5511, it is said, does not cover an attempt to commit any of the crimes therein defined, except that of voting in the name of another person. It ought to provide for the punishment of an attempt to commit any of the crimes therein specified. Other valuable amendments to this and the cognate sections are suggested, which I shall be glad to place at the disposal of any committee considering the subject.

OTHER AMENDMENTS.

A number of amendments are suggested in matters of detail which seem to be necessary to make the statutes properly cover the subject-matter embraced in existing laws.

Thus, section 5342 relates to an attempt to commit murder or manslaughter, but confines it to means "not constituting the offense of an assault with a dangerous weapon." This limitation, it would seem, ought to be stricken out.

Section 5345 provides for punishment of rape. Should it not also cover assault with intent?

A judge who has given a good deal of thought to the subject, as brought to his attention by experience, suggests that great hardship often results to persons without means, who are brought long distances to court, and being discharged without indictment or after acquittal at the place of trial, have no means of getting home.

It is also suggested that the law requiring judges to audit and certify to allowances of claims ought to be repealed, in view of the fact that Congress has provided that suits upon such claims may be brought before the same judges, wherein they will be called upon to hear and determine the same judicially.

Section 5391, directing that the punishment of offenses not specially provided for by Federal law, shall be the same as prescribed by the laws of the State in which the offense is committed, "now in force," should be amended by adding "or which may be in force at the time of the commission of such offense."

Section 5467 should be amended by striking out the words "any such person" in the seventh line from the bottom of said section and inserting the word "or" in its place; an amendment evidently necessary to carry out the purpose of the section.

Section 968 ought to be amended to correspond with the judiciary act of 1887, so that in order to recover costs the plaintiff must recover the minimum of jurisdiction, $2,000. As the law now is, it is said if he sues for over $2,000 and recovers over $500, he recovers costs.

By the same judge it is suggested that there ought to be a law giving jurisdiction of crime committed on American vessels upon the lakes upon either side of the boundary line. For the want of such a law many crimes go unpunished, the Canadian courts not having any special interest therein.

He also says that section 5478, punishing burglary of post-offices, ought to be amended by increasing the maximum of punishment to twenty years, as five years is wholly inadequate for the case of a persistent house-breaker.

Another judge, who has had great experience in the administration of the internal revenue laws, is of the opinion that the minimum punishment for infraction of these laws might be made less, as it is the certainty and not the magnitude of punishment that deters crime.

The answers to the circular letter above referred to, point out many other defects in the Federal laws as well as the needed amendments—defects and amendments which only experience in the actual administration of the laws in court would suggest. In some instances draughts of the needed amendments are submitted.

All of these papers I shall be glad to place at the disposal of Congress.

REPAIRS FOR THE COURT-HOUSE OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

I beg to call the attention of Congress to the following communication from the supreme court of the District of Columbia with reference to the sanitary condition of the court-house. This communication speaks for itself and certainly demands prompt action on the part of Congress:

SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA;

November 23, 1889.

Hon. W. H. H. MILLER,

Attorney-General:

SIR: We respectfully call the attention of the Hon. the Attorney-General to the urgent necessity of a prompt appropriation by Congress for alterations and repairs to the building known as the old City Hall, in which the sessions of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia are held.

In consequence of orders of the Attorney-General, something was done after the adjournment in July towards a rectification of the serious defects of the system of water-closets, but the small amount of money at the disposal of the office could only accomplish reforms as to a few of the many establishments of this character, located at numerous points about this large building. Those untouched are in a seriously defective condition—some being without any ventilation whatever, and the others very imperfectly provided with such appliances as are now considered essential for safety. We are assured by competent authority that such insufficient safeguards would not be tolerated by the health officers, in any building, public or private, under their charge.

Perhaps a more serious cause of complaint is the faulty arrangement for the supply of external air to the heating system in use throughout the building.

This supply is supposed to come through two horizontal gratings level with the surface of the ground; thence descending some 10 feet to a tunnel, communicating at each end, east and west, with these gratings. This tunnel is about 8 feet in height by about 6 feet in width; the bottom laid with brick like an ordinary pavement, and the sides of stone, with an arch at the top. The open gratings admit the rain, and the damp air, which it is supposed passes through the length of the tunnels and at different points is admitted to the registers opening into the court-room. The imperfect paving of the floor of the tunnel offers no obstacle to the escape of exhalations from the ground beneath. The tunnel is about 276 feet long; and at the points where the air ascends to many of the rooms the atmosphere appears quite unaffected by the external air, but seems to be dead and disagreeable. That such a system needs prompt modification, must be apparent. One obvious remedy would be to erect towers in the grounds surrounding the building, to the east and west respectively of the present gratings, through which wholesome air, taken from an elevation some 15 feet above the ground, could be conducted to a tunnel, protected by thick coatings of cement from impurities from the ground beneath the cellars, and from infiltration, from the masonry at the sides.

We are painfully sensible of the necessity of a prompt reformation of these glaring evils. The health officer and the Inspector of plumbing of the District have each expressed themselves very positively to this effect.

We also suggest that the comfort of the justices, and the becoming discharge of their duties would be much promoted by a change in the room used by the General Term, which would be accomplished by the removal of a wall between it and our consultation-room, and its reconstruction at the opposite end of the chamber.

We respectfully request that the Attorney-General should incorporate the substance of these suggestions in his forthcoming report, and urge the passage of an appropriation for the purpose, to be made available at the earliest possible day.

Very respectfully, for the Court.

E. F. BINGHAM, C. J.

All of which I have the honor to submit.

Your obedient servant,

W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General.

EXHIBIT I.—Report of the Solicitor of the Treasury.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY,
Washington, D. C., October 30, 1889.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith seven tabular statements, exhibiting the amounts, character, and results of the litigation under my direction, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, shown by the docket entries of this office.

These tables embrace respectively—

(1) Suits on transcripts of accounts of defaulting public officers, excepting those of the Post-Office Department, adjusted by the accounting officers of the Treasury Department.

(2) Post-office suits, embracing those against officers of the Post-Office Department, and cases of fines, penalties, and forfeitures for violation of postal laws.

(3) Suits on custom-house bonds.

(4) Suits for the recovery of fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the customs revenue and navigation laws.

(5) Suits against collectors of customs and other officers or agents of the Government, excepting internal-revenue officers, for refund of duties and acts done in line of their official duty.

(6) Suits in which the United States is a party, or is interested, not embraced in the other classes.

(7) A general summary or abstract of all the other tables.

An examination of the tables will show that the whole number of suits commenced within the year was 4,866, of which 29 were of class 1, for the recovery of $96,515.22; 359 were of class 2, for the recovery of $93,778.31; 26 were of class 3, for the recovery of $8,142.31; 200 were of class 4, for the recovery of $51,458.12; 1,849 were of class 5, and 2,403 were of class 6, for the recovery of $13,180,378.89, making a total sued for, as reported, of $13,430,272.85.

Of the whole number of suits brought, 1,614 were decided in favor of the United States, 51 were adversely decided, 396 were settled and dismissed, in 12 penalties were remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, leaving 2,793 still pending.

Of those pending at the commencement of the year, 861 were decided for the United States, 144 were decided adversely, 1,064 were settled and dismissed, and in 6 penalties were remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The whole number of suits decided or otherwise disposed of during the year was 4,148; the whole amount for which judgments were obtained, exclusive of decrees in rem, was $454,250.74, and the entire amount collected from all sources was $288,252.02.

The number of cases in which offers of compromise were pending and received during the fiscal year was 101, involving the sum of $1,916,633.14.

The number of offers accepted was 46, involving the sum of $1,300,004.88; amount accepted, $76,008.53.

The number of offers rejected was 39, involving the sum of $434,665.84; amount rejected, $39,621.20.

The number of offers pending at the close of the fiscal year was 16, involving the sum of $181,962.42; amount offered in cases pending, $5,075.77.

Statements of real property under charge of this office acquired and sold during the fiscal year, of property the title to which has been otherwise relinquished, and of suits brought by the United States for possession of land by law in charge of this office are appended hereto.

The number of letters and communications received by this office during the fiscal year was 9,077; the number of official bonds, contracts, and leases received for examination as to their correctness in form and as to their legal sufficiency and returned was 876; the number of letters and communications sent out was 4,393; and the number of opinions rendered on questions of law submitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, or by the heads of bureaus of the Treasury Department, was 84.

The various dockets of this office show that the sum of about $35,000,000, principal and interest, is due the Government, evidenced by judgments of the circuit and district courts. No reliable estimate of the value of these judgments can be given; many were obtained long years ago, and in many instances, through neglect, the lien of the judgment has been lost.

In other instances the present residence of the debtor is unknown. Debtors are in every State and Territory of the Union. No person is particularly charged with the duty of discovering the debtors, unearthing their property, or collecting the money of the Government. No adequate means of payment for services necessary to secure collection are provided for. The district attorneys, marshals, and clerks naturally feel but little interest in these old matters. This office has been engaged in earnest endeavors to make collections, but is constantly hampered by a want of proper facilities. Extensive and painstaking correspondence with the officers above named has been engaged in, looking to the discovery of debtors and assets. In a great majority of instances these efforts have met with commendable co-operation; but the services thus called forth are unremunerated, and are a heavy tax upon the time and unrequited zeal of the officers, and the results are far from satisfactory.

I therefore take the liberty to recommend that you ask Congress for an appropriation of $10,000, to be expended under your direction, in payment for services to be rendered in hunting up these debtors and their property, in order that collection of these judgments be made. The appropriation of $500 for the purchase of books for the library of this office is insufficient to meet the demand upon it. I ask that you recommend its increase to $1,000.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

W. P. HEPBURN,
Solicitor.

Hon. W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General of the United States.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, November 1, 1889.

SIR: I have the honor to present herewith the annual report for the library of the Department of Justice for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889.

Previous to March, 1873, the United States Supreme Court Reports were distributed to the judiciary of the United States through the office of the Superintendent of Documents, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior. By act of March 3, 1873, the Department of Justice was charged "with the distribution of the United States Statutes, United States Supreme Court Reports, and other judicial documents" to the judges of the United States Supreme Court; United States Court of Claims; the United States circuit and district courts; to the chief and associate justices of the several Territories, and to the officers of the Department of Justice.

By act of February 12, 1889, entitled "An act to amend section six hundred and eighty-three of the Revised Statutes, relating to the distribution of the Reports of the Supreme Court," "so much of section three hundred and eighty-six of the Revised Statutes as charges the Department of Justice with the distribution of the United States Supreme Court Reports" was repealed.

By this act the Secretary of the Interior is charged with the distribution of these reports, and also with supplying, in addition to those heretofore sent to the judges, one complete set of the United States Supreme Court Reports to each of the places where the circuit and district courts of the United States are regularly held. The transfer of distribution to the Department of the Interior facilitates the speedy and safe delivery of these volumes as issued; a matter of great importance.

If a similar law were passed to apply to the United States Statutes it would be a wise enactment. Frequent requests are made to this Department by the judicial officers of the United States for volumes 1 to 17, inclusive, of the United States Statutes. No provision having been made for supplying these volumes since they were currently issued—the last volume was issued in 1873—the requests can not be granted, and many, if not all, United States judicial offices established since 1873 are without these volumes.

The directions given by you in the latter part of last May for making and putting up book-cases on the library floor for the safe-keeping of the Government publications, which form a most valuable part of the library of this Department, were attended to promptly. The cases ordered are now all finished, and it gives me great pleasure to tell you that in a short time a large number of these volumes will be properly arranged in them. These books have been moved five times since I have had charge of the library, and since the first move (made against my earnest protest) until now there has been no suitable place provided for them. The present arrangement is convenient, and gives great satisfaction. But there is need for quite as many more cases as have been put up. Permit me, therefore, to ask that the cases needed be ordered soon. Additional shelf-room is also required in other parts of the library.

I desire this winter, if possible, to collate the statutes and session laws of the several States and Territories belonging to the library. Perhaps a special appropriation for binding these volumes will be necessary. As the binding of these books will require special care and attention, it would be well to have an arrangement made with the Government Printer whereby the binding can be placed in charge of an expert binder, who shall be responsible for the work and insure its being properly done.

I respectfully ask that you state to the Congress the pressing need of an increased appropriation for the purchase of books for this library. The amount asked for, although larger than heretofore appropriated, is moderate and only what is needed.

For law reports and works on jurisprudence .....	$2,500
To complete the sets of the several State statutes.....	2,000
To supply missing volumes of Government publications, becoming scarcer each year.....	500

EXHIBIT K.—Report of the librarian.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, November 1, 1889.

SIR: I have the honor to present herewith the annual report for the library of the Department of Justice for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889.

Previous to March, 1873, the United States Supreme Court Reports were distributed to the judiciary of the United States through the office of the Superintendent of Documents, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior. By act of March 3, 1873, the Department of Justice was charged "with the distribution of the United States Statutes, United States Supreme Court Reports, and other judicial documents" to the judges of the United States Supreme Court; United States Court of Claims; the United States circuit and district courts; to the chief and associate justices of the several Territories, and to the officers of the Department of Justice.

By act of February 12, 1889, entitled "An act to amend section six hundred and eighty-three of the Revised Statutes, relating to the distribution of the Reports of the Supreme Court," "so much of section three hundred and eighty-six of the Revised Statutes as charges the Department of Justice with the distribution of the United States Supreme Court Reports" was repealed.

By this act the Secretary of the Interior is charged with the distribution of these reports, and also with supplying, in addition to those heretofore sent to the judges, one complete set of the United States Supreme Court Reports to each of the places where the circuit and district courts of the United States are regularly held. The transfer of distribution to the Department of the Interior facilitates the speedy and safe delivery of these volumes as issued; a matter of great importance.

If a similar law were passed to apply to the United States Statutes it would be a wise enactment. Frequent requests are made to this Department by the judicial officers of the United States for volumes 1 to 17, inclusive, of the United States Statutes. No provision having been made for supplying these volumes since they were currently issued—the last volume was issued in 1873—the requests can not be granted, and many, if not all, United States judicial offices established since 1873 are without these volumes.

The directions given by you in the latter part of last May and putting up book-cases on the library floor for the safe-keeping of Government publications, which form a most valuable part of this Department, were attended to promptly. The cases are now all finished, and it gives me great pleasure to tell you in a short time a large number of these volumes will be put in them. These books have been moved five times since they came in charge of the library, and since the last move (made in protest) until now there has been no change of place. The present arrangement is convenient and gives me great pleasure. But there is need for quite as many more cases. Permit me, therefore, to ask that additional shelf-room is also required.

I desire this winter, if possible, to have the laws of the several States and Territories placed in the library. I hope a special appropriation for this sary. As the binding of these books will require special care and attention, it would be well to have an arrangement made with the Government Printer whereby the binding can be placed in charge of an expert binder, who shall be responsible for the work and insure its being properly done.

I respectfully ask that you state to the Congress the pressing need of an increased appropriation for the purchase of books for this library. The amount asked for, although larger than heretofore appropriated, is moderate and only what is needed.

For law reports and works on jurisprudence .....	$2,500
To complete the sets of the several State statutes.....	2,000
To supply missing volumes of Government publications, becoming scarcer each year.....	500

EXHIBIT M.—Report of the Board of Trustees of the Reform School.*REFORM SCHOOL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, Washington, D. C., October 1, 1889.

SIR: In compliance with law, I respectfully submit herewith the twentieth annual report of the trustees of the Reform School of the District of Columbia.

The school was organized nearly twenty-one years ago, and from that time down to and including the 30th of June last there have been received 1,386 boys. On the first day of the last fiscal year there were 155 boys in the school. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, 84 boys were received, making during the year a total of 239 boys.

Of boys received during the year, 9 were committed by the supreme court of the District of Columbia, 49 by the police court, and 26 by the president of the board of trustees. Eighty were received upon first commitment and 4 upon second commitment. The average age of the boys was twelve and a half years. The oldest boy received was sixteen years of age, the youngest eight years.

For further detailed information respecting the boys, your attention is respectfully invited to the report of the superintendent herewith submitted.

No deaths have occurred at the school for over two years and from the time the school was organized until now but nine deaths have occurred out of a population of 1,386, covering a period of nearly twenty-one years. This of itself speaks well for the care and attention the boys receive. They have—though plain—the very best food in abundance, and the best medical treatment when sick. Fortunately, but few cases of sickness occur, and generally when they do occur they are of a mild type and readily yield to treatment.

As to the health and sanitary condition of the school, your attention is respectfully invited to the report of the physician, Dr. Wells.

Forty-nine boys were discharged during the year. It is a rule of the board of trustees not to discharge a boy unless he has a proper home to return to, and where a boy has earned his discharge by his good conduct, if he has no suitable home, every exertion is made by the superintendent and the trustees to find a home and employment. As a rule, boys on leaving the school readily find employment and conduct themselves well.

Many instances have been brought to the attention of the board of discharged boys holding places of trust and responsibility in this and other cities, and, with very few exceptions, whenever they hear of discharged boys they learn that they are doing well. The training that they receive at the school fits them for the battle of life. They are sent out well-equipped to make their way in the world and to become useful and honorable citizens, and it is the pride and pleasure of the trustees to point to the honorable and creditable career of a large majority of the boys who have been under their control and management.

Some other industries should be introduced in the school. For many years past the trustees contracted with a firm in another city for caning seats of chairs; this gave occupation to from thirty to fifty boys, but the contract expired some months ago and could not be renewed. An appropriation of $3,000 is asked for the purchase of necessary machinery, etc.

A committee of the trustees have recently inspected several of the larger institutions, with a view of ascertaining the best means of not only giving the boys employment, but of teaching them an occupation which will be useful to them in their future lives. In their report they recommend that as little machinery as possible be used, and that no trades be taught which will require the use of it to any great extent; for the reason that when the inmates leave the school they must to a great extent depend upon their own hands and they should be taught to work without the aid of machinery.

They recommend that the shoe-shop and tailor-shop be largely increased, and that all the shoes be made required at the school, and all the clothing be made; and, if possible, work be obtained for the tailor-shop from clothing establishments in this and other cities.

They further recommend that the trades of brick-laying, plastering, and carpentering be taught, and that skilled mechanics be employed to teach the boys these trades.

After the boys become proficient in these trades they can do a large amount of work on the premises which now has to be done by others at a considerable expense to the school, and by employing the boys in this way the expense will be saved.

The house of refuge in Philadelphia is one of the oldest institutions in the country and is a walled institution, but the managers have come to the conclusion that open institutions, similar to ours, are better in every way, and have purchased a farm of about 400 acres near that city, at a cost of over $50,000, and there has been appropriated the sum of $750,000 for the erection of buildings; thus showing the importance that the State of Pennsylvania places upon the necessity of the reformation and education of this class of boys.

Your attention is respectfully invited to the report of the committee, which is hereto appended.

Estimates of appropriations for expenses of the school for the next year have been submitted to you and to the honorable Commissioners of the District of Columbia, as follows:

For salaries:

One superintendent .....	$1,500
One assistant superintendent .....	900
Six teachers and assistant teachers .....	4,050
One matron of school .....	600
Three matrons of families, each $180 .....	540
Three foremen of workshops .....	1,980
One farmer .....	480
One engineer .....	396
One assistant engineer .....	300
One baker .....	360
One cook, one shoemaker, and one tailor, $300 each .....	900
Two dining-room servants, one seamstress, and one chambermaid, $144 each .....	576
One laundress .....	180
One florist .....	360
Watchmen, not exceeding seven in number .....	1,620
Secretary and treasurer, board of trustees .....	600

In all..... 15,342

For support of inmates, including groceries, flour, feed, meats, dry goods, leather and shoes, gas, fuel, hardware, tableware, furniture, farm implements and seeds, harness, and repairs to same, fertilizers, books, stationery, plumbing, painting and glazing, medicines, medical attendance, stock, fencing, repairs to buildings, and other necessary items, including compensation, not exceeding $900, for additional labor or services, and for transportation and other necessary expenses incident to securing suitable homes for discharged boys, not exceeding $500, all under the control of the Commissioners, $26,000.

For buildings and improvements:

Permanent improvement of roadways and approaches, including grading and draining.....	$3,000
Permanent boiler-house, of brick.....	2,500
One 100-horse power boiler for steam-heating and connections.....	1,500
Steam-fitting and steam-pipes to old family building, radiators and connections.....	1,500
Purchase of machinery, tools, and fixtures, and for incidental expenses in establishing new mechanical industries, or so much thereof as may be necessary.....	3,000
Proceeds of farm and shops to be covered back into the Treasury to be divided equally between the District of Columbia and the United States.
Two brick water-closets for use of main building and "A" family building.....	2,000
Painting buildings, including barn.....	1,000
To defray expenses of a representative of the Reform School of the District of Columbia at the International Prison Reform Congress to be held at St. Petersburg, Russia, or so much thereof as may be necessary..	750

This appropriation to be available at once. You will perceive that an increase has been asked for pay of teachers and assistant teachers and watchmen. This increase is necessary from the fact that the additional family building has been completed recently, giving the school a capacity of fifty more boys than it has heretofore had, requiring, therefore, more teachers and watchmen. Foremen of workshops will be required in instructing the boys in the new industries to be introduced.

The estimate for support of inmates is the same as for the present fiscal year.

An appropriation of $3,000 is asked for permanent improvement of roadways and approaches, including grading and draining. During the past season, owing to the heavy rains, the roads have been badly washed, which will require repairing at a considerable expense. A great deal of the land should be thoroughly drained to make it more productive, and much heavy grading is required to put the ground in thorough order and to make a proper play-ground for the boys.

It will be remembered that there are nearly 200 boys in the school, and recreation after their daily tasks are completed is necessary for their health and happiness. The physician in his report earnestly recommends a thorough system of permanent drainage for all the buildings and grounds as most necessary to the comfort and health of all upon the premises.

An appropriation has heretofore been asked to enable the trustees to fit up a proper play-ground, but it has never been made.

An appropriation of $3,000 is asked for a permanent boiler-house, of brick. Heretofore the boilers have been in the several buildings, but now they have been taken out and placed at some distance from the buildings, and steam conveyed by connecting pipes underground. This is not only more satisfactory, but avoids any possibility of danger from explosion of the boilers. The boilers are now protected by a temporary frame shed, which is in a dilapidated condition. If this appropriation is made, no more expense of this kind will have to be incurred. Another boiler is also necessary to complete this system of heating, and an additional appropriation of $1,500 therefor is asked. Also an appropriation of $1,500 is asked for the steam heating and steam pipes for the old family building, to be properly connected. The physician in his report places great stress upon the importance of this improvement at once.

An appropriation of $3,000, as before mentioned, is asked for the purchase of machinery, tools, benches, etc., and for the necessary expenses of establishing new mechanical industries. This appropriation will not only enable us to teach the boys useful occupations, but will add materially to the revenues of the school. You are aware that all revenue derived from the school is covered into the treasury and equally divided between the District of Columbia and the United States.

The closets for the use of the main and old family building are in a dilapidated condition. They are eye-sores and should not be permitted to remain, and an appropriation of $2,000 is asked for two brick water-closets. As to the necessity for these closets from a sanitary standpoint, attention is respectfully invited to the report of the physician, herewith submitted.

An international prison reform congress is to be held at St. Petersburg, Russia, during the coming summer. This is not only a congress, but also an exposition. The trustees are desirous of having a delegate to represent the school. Our school is the only school of its kind in the United States under the control of the General Government, and it appears meet and proper that it should be represented at this great meeting, where, it is understood, nearly every institution of a similar character in the world will be represented. An appropriation for this purpose of $750 is asked. This will be money well expended, as the representative of the school can visit similar institutions, study their workings, and, doubtless from his observations, be able to introduce many reforms and improvements in our school. It is the intention of the board of trustees to make a full display at this congress of all the handiwork of the boys. No expense will attend this, as the congress defrays all such expenses.

For the service of the last fiscal year there was appropriated as follows:

There was received by the treasurer from the superintendent, during the fiscal year, the sum of $3,143.40, derived from work of the boys and other sources, which was covered into the treasury, one-half to the credit of the United States and one-half to the credit of the District of Columbia.

Your attention is respectfully invited to the report of the treasurer herewith, showing in detail the expenditures made during the past fiscal year.

During the past year, since the new family building was completed, the smaller boys have been separated from the larger. This is a great improvement. They are kept by themselves, and are located in the main building, directly under the eyes of the superintendent and matron. This change works more than well. The smaller boys are thus removed from many evil influences of the larger boys, and are where they are constantly under the immediate charge of the superintendent and matron.

In institutions of this character, long experience teaches that boys should be separated as much as possible, the larger from the smaller, and each family kept as small in numbers as can conveniently be done. No family should exceed fifty in number, and even this number is too large.

We have now three family buildings and each building should be limited to not exceeding fifty boys, but at times we have had as high as two hundred inmates in the school, causing an increase in the size of the families, and crowding the dormitories and school-rooms. It is not the intention of the board at present to ask for any additional family buildings, although another could be well utilized.

Under the law, as president of the board, I have on several occasions during the past year been forced to notify the courts to stop committing boys to the school on account of its crowded condition. This works a great hardship, and boys of tender years who should have been at the school have been sent to the work-house. Recently my attention was called by the District Commissioners to the fact that a large number of small boys were at the work-house and working in the chain-gang, the very worst possible use they could be put to or place they could be sent. Although the school was crowded I made arrangements to have these boys transferred to the school as a matter of humanity and duty. A few days at such a place as the work-house, associating with old and confirmed criminals, soon hardens them and makes them criminals for life. A dollar spent in the prevention of crime is worth thousands spent in its prosecution, to say nothing of the moral aspect of the case.

It may be said, it is true, that reformation is not worked in every case, or, if worked, is not always permanent. This may be true, but if only a small percentage of those who leave the school turn out well, it is that much gained. We are safe in saying that a very large percentage turn out well and become useful and upright citizens, doing themselves and their instructors great credit. It is almost impossible for the members of the board to walk about the streets without daily meeting many of the discharged boys, and with rare exceptions they are at work, bright and cheerful, and all appear to be doing well.

Attention is invited to the report of the attending physician, Dr. Charles A. Wells, and to the report of the superintendent herewith submitted.

On account of the extraordinary wet weather during the past season, a great amount of extra work has been required of the larger boys. This work consisted of draining, making roadways, and working upon the farm. The wet weather made it necessary in some instances to plant the crop three times, and I regret to say that, owing to this, our crops will be small and of poor quality this season. It is, however, thought and believed that they will be sufficient to meet all the needs of the school, or nearly so.

It is to be regretted that the bill introduced last session giving the trustees the right to recall any discharged boy during his minority who in their opinion was without a proper home, or for other and sufficient reasons, failed to become a law. In most of the States such a law exists, and from extended inquiry I have learned that it works well and has a most beneficial and restraining effect, and it is earnestly hoped that you will again invite the attention of Congress to this matter and recommend the passage of the law.

There have been but few changes among the employés of the school during the past fiscal year, and those only of minor importance.

The officers have discharged their duties faithfully and well.

No one except those who are familiar with the workings of an institution like this can be aware of the trying and difficult task they have always before them. Their duties are never at an end, and from morning until night and night until morning they must be watchful and vigilant, and the trustees take great pleasure in commending them for the faithful discharge of the trusts imposed upon them.

Very respectfully,

A. J. FALLS,
President of the Board.

Hon. ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Another year of active school life and work has passed into the domain of history.

In addition to facts already stated in figures and other information tabulated for convenient reference, I will further call your attention as briefly as possible to what has been accomplished in the past, and notice some of our most pressing needs for the coming fiscal year.

Much of our school work is necessarily monotonous. The events and occurrences of each succeeding day may differ somewhat from those of

I have been led to make this appeal for Congressional aid in this special direction more urgent than ever before on account of our recent failure to renew a long-standing contract for chair-caning, which expired at the close of the present fiscal year.

I do not favor this class of work except perhaps for the smaller boys, and then only because it serves to keep them employed a portion of their time at light labor and without strain or detriment to health. The work in itself cannot be classed as a profitable trade or calling.

It may become possible in the near future to substitute for this some other light labor, such as the making of cheap wooden toys, or knitting in cotton and wool.

Meanwhile there is a ready alternative at hand, as the former working hours can be profitably spent in the school-room.

This must of course cause a marked reduction in our moneyed income until remunerative labor of some kind has been secured.

As to the older boys, we can always find more than enough to keep them busy, except perhaps during the extremes of winter weather, when they can not be employed to profit in the open air.

Our large farm makes a very extensive and ever-ready workshop, and large enough to accommodate in this way double the amount of muscle at our command.

During the present year, as indeed since the farm was first occupied by the school, it has required heroic treatment, including more than a meager annual expenditure in efforts, to reclaim portions of its worn and wasted soil.

This has proved an exceptionally trying year to the farmer, requiring more than the average share of labor and expense, occasioned by the almost continuous rain-storms throughout the entire planting season, often necessitating a triple quantity of seed to supply losses entailed by these destructive floods.

But during all these years, in addition to the customary farm work, an amount of manual labor not readily calculated in dollars and cents has been required and expended annually in the construction and repair of roadways, opening up and preparing new ground for tillage, making and repairing fences, planting and cultivating orchards, excavating for foundations for new buildings, laying new and extending old lines of sewerage, together with ditching and paving for surface drainage, and, where required, piping for subdrainage of grounds.

Large bodies of surplus earth have been broken and removed from unsightly hills to fill and level up still more unsightly hollows, until many localities have virtually been transformed, and made servicable as well as attractive to the eye, by thus securing suitable grades and covering the new-made surface with shrubs and grasses.

Work of this character, which would otherwise have cost the Government many thousands of dollars, has been done by the older boys under the supervision of the former, assisted by officers of the several families.

As to the annual product of the farm, most of our early summer crops fell below the average both in quantity and quality.

Of hay and grass there has been a bountiful supply, and so also of the later field-corn.

Our standard fruits all gave early promise of an abundant yield, but the unusually wet season, with other local causes, almost entirely prevented their maturity. But for this we must have had a large surplus of apples and peaches, as these orchards are each quite extensive and contain many choice varieties of fruits.

The crop of Concord and white Niagara grapes—once a source of considerable annual revenue to the school—again proved a complete failure, as it has for several successive years, and from the same causes that have produced like results in other large vineyards in this locality.

Important improvements have been made during the year, and much necessary repairing done in connection with the several departments of the school. To speak of each in detail would include the work of skilled artisans in many branches of mechanical industry, and include the names and value of countless articles, from the smallest gas-jet to a steam-boiler of ample dimensions.

Our principal buildings have been in use for many years, long enough, at least, to require frequent and often extensive repairs.

In this connection it may, however, be fairly claimed that our standard is above the general average, as compared with others, in the kind and quality of the supplies you have always and uniformly provided for the healthful maintenance, including the care and personal comfort, of every boy under your control.

The new family building has been completed and occupied since January last, by our "B" family, which now consists only of the larger white boys.

This necessitated the organization of another division, which is located in either wing of the main building and known under the new arrangement as "family C." The addition of this new building has made it possible to complete your matured purpose, by which the smaller boys are now congregated in one building, separate and apart from all others.

Additional officers and teachers have been employed to meet this contingency, which explains the increase in the amounts required for salaries of this class, and should be added to your estimates for the coming year.

The use of this additional building has offered the first and only opportunity for safely increasing our population, and already the result is an average number of inmates larger than ever before. Another advantage gained was a speedy reduction of population in buildings that had long been overcrowded; but the most important result secured by this has been the placing of boys of about the same relative ages together and in a separate building distinctively their own.

The organization of our new family also necessitated changes in the former school grades, and we now have six daily sessions, holding about four hours each, in the several school-rooms.

It has not been found necessary to make any marked changes in the character or conduct of our educational work. Special attention has always been given to this important department during the time our regular school sessions are in progress.

Every boy is expected, when in health, to spend a portion of each school day in study, and none are excused from a regular attendance upon one daily session except by permission of the superintendent.

In addition to the stated lessons frequent repetitions, in concert, of the multiplication tables are required. Such exercises, however, are confined to the short evening sessions, conducted by the teacher in charge, who usually arranges his own programme, without reference to fixed rules.

Ordinary methods now employed by the more advanced instructors in our public schools are accepted as models and the routine of daily study adopted as far as practicable.

Our books for instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, and geogra- phy are much the same as those in present use in the District common schools, and recitations in these fundamental studies cover a large proportion of the time each boy is required to spend in school.

Several classes, however, in the highest grades, recite in algebra, geometry, and history, but these studies are confined to boys in our "B" family, and their recitations are made to the senior teacher, often after the regular sessions have closed.

Under existing rules boys can only be discharged on their "Honor Badge" and after having acquired some knowledge of arithmetic in its four primary divisions, together with a fair ability to read and write and to recite readily the multiplication tables.

The requirements under this wholesome rule have provided a wonderful incentive to increased application in study with most of our boys, and even the duller intellect will sometimes gather sufficient courage from this new source of inspiration to gain such promotion in his class as will secure to him finally the proffered boon—his honorable discharge.

The hours for work and school remain unchanged from former years, still sharing about equally in the daily distribution during the eight continuous months in which the schools are in session.

This gives a long recess in study, but no corresponding relief is possible when applied to labor, as the demand for that is doubled during this busiest season of the year, and when our farm requires aid of every boy old and strong enough to assist in either field or garden work.

But not of every boy, indeed; for there is a large reserve that can never be spared for outside work, however pressing the demand may be, and exception must be made of these many trusted boys employed at indoor labor of various kinds in this most important branch of all our school industries. This small army of faithful helpers is permanently detailed, and kept on duty late and early, every day in seven, under the direction of competent instructors, male and female.

The demand for this large amount of domestic and other miscellaneous labor is both incessant and imperious, and, like "time and tide," waits for no one.

Cleanliness with us may not always reach the Apostle's higher standard, but it is valued nevertheless to an extent that prompts us to keep not only the platter but "every nook and corner clean."

We are ever and continually reminded of the fact, and realize it more fully every day, that the mouths of hungry boys are ever clamorous for bread, and empty stomachs of this particular kind and gender are ever waiting to be filled, and that, too, with a triple daily allowance measured by the scriptural standard. And still further, "through summer's heat and winter's cold," this same jubilant rollicking boy, duplicated by hundreds, must have the body comfortably clothed as well as fed, and generously cared for in other innumerable ways.

And thus it goes through each successive day, from week to week and month by month, until the "rounded year" has passed.

This readily suggests the inevitable daily round of duties that depend directly upon these youthful helpers, calling them to service under cooks and bakers, tailors and shoe-makers, and others of not less importance in their several positions.

It includes, as well, matrons of families, housekeepers and others in charge of dining-rooms and laundry, each intrusted with a portion of this large array of help, and all thus adding their quota to the aggregate of the domestic labor so necessary to the healthful life and daily comfort of themselves and others.

And yet the product of this labor is in no sense a source of revenue to the school, nor does the entire force of boys—all wage-earners, if so employed, outside—bring any moneyed income or add directly to the financial resources of the school.

But with all this work of hand and brain there is never wanting to each and every boy his just proportion of play and recreation.

This serves to shorten the duller hours assigned to labor and makes their seeming burdens tolerable to even the most indolent.

I venture the opinion that, whether here or elsewhere, no well spent working day should ever pass entirely where numbers are employed together without some rays of sunshine reaching it from boyish hearts, made bright and glad by healthful exercise and friendly contact with their fellows on the play-ground.

By right of birth and natural inheritance every fair-minded boy is entitled to certain shares in fee simple of this kind of realty, and all power must be arbitrary in itself that would seek to wholly disinherit him.

Estimates have been submitted to the proper authorities for current expenses and for necessary improvements and repairs.

As named and aggregated in your report to the honorable the Attorney-General and honorable Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the figures do not exceed or overestimate our real wants and necessities for the coming fiscal year.

Your attention is respectfully directed to the condition of our school grounds, especially to the boys play-ground, adjacent to the main and "A" family buildings.

These grounds have never been properly graded, and will require a liberal expenditure to make them of any practical benefit to the school.

Owing to their location, which is most unfavorable, but made from necessity rather than choice, they will require much additional grading, together with a retaining-wall several feet in height.

This wall is required also to protect the roadway adjoining, and to keep it from washing out entirely.

Our older boys, working in the common interests of all, will gladly contribute much of the labor required to complete this much needed improvement.

Next in importance in this connection is that portion of the grounds lying immediately in front of and west of our main building.

This entire frontage will require new fencing to protect it from intrusion from the public roadway, which also forms the boundary line on this side of the farm.

A large portion of this ground is badly depressed, very uneven and broken in surface, and, in places, drops below the road level.

During heavy rains, as in the present season, these lower grounds are covered with water much of the time, and thus rendered entirely useless for farming purposes.

Even in ordinary seasons the soil is damp, sour, and comparatively worthless.

By thorough and systematic drainage these conditions could be readily changed, and at reasonable cost.

Our principal roadway enters and leads up, through these grounds, to the main and other buildings, and the lands should therefore be made both productive and attractive in appearance.

As a purely sanitary measure, and to free them from noxious and malarial exhalations, during the heat of summer they should receive the prompt attention their condition so urgently demands.

The erection of our new family building necessitated changes in roadways, and permanent brick walks should be laid between it and other buildings.

The lawn immediately surrounding will require new grades and further drainage.

The new building should also be painted and made to conform in its outward appearance to others near by.

An additional boiler equal in size and capacity to the one in present use should certainly be provided, and with the least possible delay. This would complete our new steam-heating plant and furnish heat sufficient to warm all our buildings even in the coldest weather, including workshops and greenhouses.

We should have this boiler to use as an alternative in case of accident or when repairs are needed to the one in use.

It is not safe to be entirely without expedients in a matter so important to the health and comfort of our large population.

There might a contingency arise of this character with the thermometer at zero, and as now no possible relief at hand.

This self-apparent need should make its own most direct and successful appeal.

A suitable building is also required of sufficient dimensions to shelter this steam-heating plant and provide quarters for the engineer in charge, as well as to provide against frosted water-pipes and accidents from other possible sources.

Our coal vaults, partly provided for in a former appropriation, should be enlarged by necessary additions sufficient to hold the requisite amount of fuel to last throughout the longest winter, as we are far removed from ready sources of relief.

The "main" and "A" family buildings, together with the barn and other outbuildings, need painting, to protect them from the weather.

Other and strictly ordinary repairs are provided for in the appropriations for current expenses, but this should receive a merited addition of not less than $1,000.

I trust you will be able to present these just and reasonable claims with such force and earnestness of purpose to the Congress soon to assemble that every dollar asked in your estimates so carefully prepared will receive from them a full and prompt approval.

The general health of the school throughout the year has been quite equal to the average of its many predecessors. No epidemic or contagious diseases of any kind have been prevalent in the school, and no deaths have occurred among our boys from any cause.

The same favorable report was made for the year preceding this one. The attending physician, Dr. Charles A. Wells, has paid us many visits, meeting promptly all demands the school has made upon his time and skill, and to the entire satisfaction of his patients, young and old.

His annual report, already in your hands, covers all necessary details concerning this one department, in which, to us, his word is law.

In accordance with usual custom, our religious services have been steadily held throughout the year on Sabbath afternoons at 3 o'clock. These services are open and free to all, and are not held in the interests of any one sect or denomination, and hence are not intended to be doctrinal in their tendencies and teachings.

For the kind offices of ministers and others, who from time to time have favored us in the conduct of these always interesting Sabbath-day exercises, we here record our grateful acknowledgments, and bid them, each and all, a cordial welcome back as time and opportunity may jointly make occasion for their coming.

Our Sabbath-school sessions have also been held in each family regularly at 10 o'clock every Sabbath day. As heretofore, the lesson-papers published by the American Sunday School Union are always used.

Officers and teachers in care of the several families have special charge of these exercises, and the superintendent seldom fails to be present in each family during some portion of the time occupied in these sessions.

All of our boys in connection with the Catholic faith and order assemble Sabbath afternoons for special instruction under teachers who come from the city for that purpose.

Rev. E. A. McGurck, president of Gonzaga College, continued his monthly visits throughout the year on Sabbath mornings to conduct a special service and administer the sacraments.

I have always favored the most liberal provision for a suitable observance of our annual holidays. They are few enough at best, and the intervals between them long indeed when measured by the average boy.

"Thanksgiving day" is always welcomed at our school, and this proved no exception, as it brought the usual rest from work and study. But more than this and better still it brought a rich supply of all that served to fill and satisfy the "inner boy"—of "roasts and pies and puddings rare." For blessings such as these, at least, there were many thankful hearts that bright November day.

But "Fourth of July" and "Merry Christmas" are our true red-letter holidays, and in their time and season were fitly honored—the one appropriately garlanded with buntings striped and starred, the other crowned with pines and decked with hollies, green and red.

"The Fourth" was loud from shouts of boyish victors in their games and sports by day, and noise of bursting bombs and flying rockets filled the air by night.

Our Christmas, too, was joyous in its revelries, but of a milder type, and changed as well in all it brought of jingling bells and tooting horns, with good old Santa Claus to meet a host of merry boys, and well prepared to stuff, with nuts and sweets of various kinds, their gaping pockets to the full.

Thus came and passed these bright memorial days, with neither strife nor accident to mar, "for all went merry as a marriage bell."

Our annual entertainment, as given by the boys selected and prepared for their several parts under competent instructors, was given at the school, as usual, in the month of January.

The attendance was large, all we could accommodate, including the president and several members of the board of trustees, with other good friends, ladies and gentlemen, and all were happy judging from the hearty rounds of applause at the end of each separate performance.

Mr. W. K. Cohen, our teacher of vocal music, took charge of his special part of the programme, conducting it throughout with marked success. We were also favored by a number of fine cornet accompaniments by Professor Gibson.

Other pleasant literary and musical entertainments were given on different occasions by ladies and gentlemen, all good friends of the school, and should this paragraph ever come to their personal notice, each and all may safely accept it as a deserved tribute to the professional worth, and as a token of gratitude from us for favors thus graciously extended.

I have to acknowledge, and do so very cordially, the receipt of many favors from friendly hearts and hands that have come so opportunely to our boys at stated times during the year.

We notice first that from the general post-office there has been received monthly a sack containing printed matter, consisting of standard magazines, periodicals of various kinds, illustrated newspapers, and much excellent reading especially suited for our older boys.

Added to these are many beautiful cards, prints, and valentines, all carefully selected, as was the reading matter, by the good ladies in charge of the official distribution made at the instance of the honorable, the Postmaster-General.

From other sources we have received many similar favors and, on occasions, complete files of choice weekly papers such as Youth's Companion, Harper's Young People, and Golden Days, all pleasant and profitable reading for boys.

We have given hearty welcome also to regular copies of several school journals that have come to us from friends in distant States. Sometimes, like Zaccheus of old, they are "small of stature," but in that only, as all are creditable specimens of the printer's art. Among these we name The Advance, from the State Reform School, New Jersey; The School Enterprise, from the Lyman School for Boys, Massachusetts, and The Howard Times, from the State Reform School of Rhode Island.

No changes have been made within the year in our official working force other than were occasioned by the re-organization of the several families, and but few in our entire force of employés.

As co-workers with me, each in a separate sphere, yet I trust with the same common good in view, to each and all I am truly grateful for assistance timely rendered and for that efficient help which always comes from faithful service.

To you, gentlemen of the board of trustees, I submit this report, expressing here my gratitude for your continued confidence in the belief that I have met your approval in all my efforts to do your will throughout another year of prosperous work.

To the Infinite Giver, who governs all, belongs the expression of our deepest gratitude and highest praise.

Respectfully submitted.

*Report of the physician.*REFORM SCHOOL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
Washington, D. C., July 1, 1889.

GENTLEMEN: I am glad to report (for the second consecutive year) that there has been no death at the institution. We had eight cases of typhoid fever, commencing August 20. The last fever patient was not discharged from the hospital until the 31st of October. There must necessarily be many cases of illness from various causes among so many inmates. A very large percentage of the boys admitted come with inherited disease or with systems impaired by vicious habits or irregular modes of living. To such our comfortable dormitories, generous food, and regular habits are of inestimable value. Strict watch has been kept over dormitories, bathing pools, and closets, disinfectants have been systematically and liberally used, while scrupulous cleanliness and thorough ventilation contribute to maintain the healthful condition of the inmates.

Among those matters important for the comfort and health of the boys is the present arrangement of our "outside closets." Waiting in line there in all conditions of the weather brings many cases to the dispensary. I would respectfully suggest that outside closets similar to those in use at the new building be built for the other families.

I regard it as important that the heating apparatus for Family A building be improved at once. I am in the habit of leaving boys who are likely to be detained in bed only a few hours in the dormitory, and I know that great discomfort is often felt because of the unreliable method of heating the building. A still further recommendation is that some system of drainage (to include all three buildings and the grounds) be devised and executed in such manner that there would be no probable interruption in the near future. The play-ground should be so drained and arranged that the boys could use it except in the most inclement and boisterous weather.

I have learned with pleasure that your Board contemplates being represented at the International Prison Congress to be held at St. Petersburg the coming June, when the subject of reformatories will likely occupy an important place in the deliberations. I would be glad to have my department receive some attention in this case, and will be pleased to render such personal and professional assistance as will contribute to this end.

Very truly, yours,

CHAS. A. WELLS, M. D.,

REFORM SCHOOL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
Washington, D. C., September 16, 1889.

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to the resolution adopted the 29th day of August, the undersigned committee, appointed to visit the House of Refuge at Philadelphia, Pa., and at Randall's Island, New York, have the honor to submit the following report, after having thoroughly examined into the workings of those institutions.

At the House of Refuge, Philadelphia, the principal industries are brush-making, tailoring, shoe-making, and caning chairs.

The population of this institution on the day we were there was 650 boys and 170 girls.

The salaries paid amount to $32,000 per annum.

The salary of the superintendent is $3,000 per annum, and the superintendents of the shops from $1,000 to $1,200 per annum.

The teachers receive on an average $30 per month, but are not employed in any other capacity and teach three hours per day five days during the week.

An officer is employed in this institution; designated as an agent, who receives a salary of $1,500 per annum, whose duty it is to find homes for discharged boys and to visit them at their homes at least once a month.

Under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, the institution has control over its inmates until they are twenty-one years of age, and if their homes are found at any time to be improper or if they are liable to be led astray or are not doing well, they can at any time be recalled to the institution.

A similar law, we are informed, applies to nearly every institution of a like character throughout the United States, with the exception of the Reform School of the District of Columbia, and although the attention of Congress was called to this matter and a bill introduced at its last session giving our school this authority, it failed to become a law.

After leaving Philadelphia, your committee proceeded to the House of Refuge at Randall's Island, New York.

The population of this institution on the day your committee arrived there was 579 boys and 85 girls.

This institution employs 72 officers and employés, including 20 teachers.

The salary of the superintendent is $3,500 and the salary of the principal teacher is $2,000 per annum, and the salaries of the assistant teachers average from $600 to $800 per annum. They are employed, in teaching and other occupations, from seven to eight hours per day.

The State appropriates about $120,000 per annum, and the proceeds from the work of the inmates average $20,000 per annum; making a total of about $140,000 per annum, to be expended for the current expenses of the institution.

Each of the institutions that we visited had a fine band, made up from the inmates, which was not only a great addition to the institution, but a great advantage to the boys composing the band, as the committee was informed that these boys had no difficulty in obtaining lucrative employment in the line of their calling after leaving the institution. We respectfully recommend that a band be also attached to our school—the instruments can be purchased at an expense not to exceed $400, and an instructor can be obtained at a compensation of $600 per annum.

The House of Refuge at Philadelphia, after an experience of many years, has finally come to the conclusion that bars and bolts, high fences, stone walls, and cells are things that belong to the past and have no part in the reformation of juveniles.

They are about to abandon their present location, and they have purchased a farm of 400 acres, about twenty miles from the city of Philadelphia, paying therefor $52,000, and there has been appropriated for the erection of the necessary buildings the sum of $750,000, making a total of over $800,000 expended or to be expended by the State of Pennsylvania upon this one institution for the reformation of boys and girls.

After careful examination we find the industries of these schools to be similar to those of our own.

In conferring with the superintendents of these institutions, they strongly advised that as little machinery as possible be used and that no trades be taught which require the use of much machinery, for the reason that when the inmates leave the institution they have no machinery of their own and must depend upon their own hands. Therefore they should be taught to work with their hands, without the aid of machinery. Of course some machinery is necessary.

In some institutions bricklaying, plastering, and carpentering is taught to a large extent. Practical mechanics are employed in daily teaching boys by building temporary houses and structures, and then tearing them down and rebuilding others of a different character, using the same material over and over.

It is true that in this work there is no pecuniary profit but reform schools are not established for the purpose of making money, but for the education and benefit of the inmates, to enable them to be self-supporting when they go out into the world.

After giving the matter careful consideration, your committee respectfully recommends that as large a class of boys as possible be employed in making shoes and clothing for the school. It is thought possible that the school can obtain work from large clothing establishments in this city and in Baltimore, and it might be worth trying.

All the shoes needed at the school can be and should be made upon the premises.

Caning chairs is an occupation only, and not a trade. The boys can be employed at it, and a small revenue derived from it, but it is of little use to the boys when they leave the school.

In addition to these, the most inexpensive industries that can be established would be bricklaying, plastering, and carpentering. These trades could be readily taught in the manner above suggested, and would be most useful callings for the boys.

The carpentering would also be of great advantage to the school, as the boys engaged in this work, being proficient in it, could do all the carpentering which will be required at the school, which would in the end amount to a great deal and save a large sum of money which is now expended.

The boys engaged in bricklaying could also be of use in making culverts, drains, and other work upon the premises, and the boys learning the trade of plastering could also be made useful.

It was the wish of your committee to have made some further inquiries at some other points, but their time was limited and the weather bad and disagreeable.

Very respectfully,

CECIL CLAY.
A. J. FALLS.

EXHIBIT N.—Report of the warden of the jail in the District of Columbia.*

WARDEN'S OFFICE, UNITED STATES JAIL,
Washington, D. C., November 1, 1889.

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report of this institution for the year which ended October 31, 1889:

The sanitary condition of the institution and the health of the inmates have been of the highest order. One death occurred, which was the first in three years; that was a case of consumption, with which the prisoner was prostrated when he entered the prison. The jail is located in a malarious district, and in order to protect the prisoners from the effects of the malarial poison it is necessary to constantly use disinfectants to purify the atmosphere within the building. To this end lime, in the form of whitewash on the walls of the cells and corridors, is frequently applied. Carbolic disinfecting powder is frequently sprinkled about the sinks, basements, and corridors, and along the cold-air ducts that lead into and under the first floor of the wings of the building; and crude carbolic acid, with equal parts of water heated just sufficiently to create a light vapor, is constantly used in different parts of the building. We have found by long practice and close observation that the crude carbolic acid in the form of vapor is the most efficient annihilator of the germs of malarial poison now in use. We have used it with great freedom and persistency during a period of ten years, with most satisfactory results. During that period the inmates have been comparatively free from the various forms of fevers, catarrh, and colds, although previous to its introduction and use here these diseases were of frequent occurrence. Methods to produce a condition of cleanliness among the inmates and throughout the apartments are in constant practice and the accumulation of foul and extraneous matter prevented. Many of the prisoners, however, when brought here are the subjects of various forms of disease arising from their vicious habits of life. Hence the jail physician is always supplied with a number of patients for treatment. Such persons, as a rule, are in better condition when released from jail than when they entered it. The report of Alexander McWilliams, M. D., the jail physician, which accompanies this, contains a detailed and specific statement of the sanitary condition of the prison, the health of the inmates, the treatment of the sick, the diet of the prisoners, and their general condition. Reference thereto is hereby respectfully made for further and more ample information upon those subjects. There was expended for medicines, dentistry, medical stores, hospital appliances and instruments, and special diet for those under medical treatment the sum of $208.52. There was also expended for disinfectants, including carbolic powder, crude carbolic acid, sal soda, soap, and lime, the sum of $483.79.

Commendable efforts have been made to improve the moral condition of the inmates by representatives from the Young Men's Christian Association, white and colored, the Catholic societies, and the Women's Christian Temperance Union, some of whom have held meetings at the jail every Sunday; besides they have visited the prisoners at stated intervals for religious conversation and distributing reading matter of a religious and moral character, and in these ways have produced gratifying results. Their services have been gratuitous and rendered the employment of a chaplain unnecessary. The jail building and out-building have been kept in good repair at a cost of $189.25. The repairs included closing up a window space, 7 feet by 24 feet, in the outer wall of the south wing with solid masonry of brick and cement to render that locality more secure; also placing a new roof on part of the barn and repairing the cupola or lantern and roof over the central part of the jail building. Repairs have been made to the furnaces and steam-boilers, the steam-pipes, fittings, and machinery connected with the steam-heating arrangements, the laundry, and the sewers, as their condition required. The amount expended for such repairs was $309.83. These are all now in good condition for use, except an upright steam-boiler, which is used for generating steam to work the force-pump that forces water to the tanks in the upper part of the building to supply the jail with water, also to run the engine in the steam laundry, and for cooking and other purposes. This boiler has been in constant use fourteen years, and has become so worn as to be deemed unsafe and unfit for further use. The inspector of steam-boilers in this District, after making a careful inspection of the boiler, condemned it as unsafe, and advised that it be replaced by a horizontal steam-boiler of about 25-horse power. I recommend that a boiler of that description and capacity be purchased to replace the one now in use at as early a day as arrangements can be made for its purchase. Should an accident occur to the one that has been condemned, it is so located in the central part of the basement that it would jeopardize the building and the lives of the inmates. The cost of a new boiler of the kind mentioned is estimated at about $550. There has been expended for paints, oil, glass, and other material for painting and glazing, and for lubricating oil for mechanical purposes, the sum of $270.45.

The painting and glazing were done by prison labor, as it became necessary from time to time, upon the cupola, the valleys to the central roof, the large gutters under the eaves, the window frames and sash, on the iron and wood-work in various parts of the jail, and on the cell furniture and other articles requiring the same.

An apartment to be used for storing vegetables and other perishable articles is very much needed. We now have but one small room used for the purposes of a cellar, and in this are stored fish, salt, salt provisions, vegetables, and most of the articles used for dietary purposes. The room is situated on the south side of the east extension of the building, where it is exposed to the heat of the sun and heat from two steam-pipes which pass through it to the laundry and kitchen, and which increase the temperature of the apartments to such a degree that articles of a perishable nature decay more rapidly, occasioning loss and rendering it advisable to purchase supplies in small quantities. The room now in use for the purposes of the steam-laundry and drier if vacated could be used for an additional cellar, for which it is admirably suited in all respects. There is an ample space in the basement, which can be spared without inconvenience, on the west side of the fire-room, where the laundry and drier can be placed and set up 75 feet nearer the steam-boilers which furnish the steam-power to run them than where they are now situated, which if done would save considerable in the quantity of steam for their use. In order to make the change it would become necessary to build a brick wall 75 feet in length and 10 feet in height to separate the space to be used for the laundry and drier from the fire-room, also to pave the floor to be used for the purpose, and to add to and change somewhat the system of steam-pipes and sewers now in use. The entire cost of making the change and including the removal of the engine, boilers, tubs, and apparatus connected with the laundry and drier is estimated at $500. Believing that in course of time this would be a saving to the Government, I recommend that the change be made. A small-pox hospital, which is under the control of the District government, is situated upon the jail premises, and its approaches are over grounds belonging to the jail and used for jail purposes. It is in such close proximity to the jail building that when it is occupied by small-pox patients there is danger that the disease may be communicated to the inmates of the jail, which has been done on two or three occasions heretofore with a loss of three of the patients. The hospital is not an attractive feature of architecture nor ample in its accommodations. It has been often criticised heretofore, and, as I am informed, condemned by those having the matter in charge as unfit for use. It does seem to me quite probable that, by a well-directed effort to be made by the proper authorities, Congress could be induced to make the small appropriation that would be necessary to purchase a site in a suitable locality and erect thereon a building with suitable apartments and arrangements to accommodate in a proper manner such persons in this District as become subject to that much-dreaded and dangerous disease and thus contribute to their comfort and recovery. If this were to be done, the liability to contract the disease by prisoners held in custody by the Government would be materially lessened. It is to be hoped that the proper authorities having it in charge may take early action for its removal.

Perhaps I may be excusable for mentioning in this connection another much-needed improvement, although the subject has been treated on in former reports, and that is the construction of a wall or inclosure of suitable extent and dimensions around the jail and a portion of the jail premises. It is rare indeed that a jail or prison can be found in any section of the country that is not provided with some protection of that kind. And yet this jail has been entirely neglected in that regard. It is located upon the borders of the extreme limits of the city, near the banks of the Anacostia River, beyond the settled population of the city and the protection which the presence of a police force might afford, in one of the most isolated portions within the city limits, where it is exposed to the intrusion of vicious and evil-disposed persons, who prowl around the premises, especially at night, for evil purposes, and who can approach with impunity to the very walls, doors, and windows of the institution, where they can communicate with prisoners, especially the women and persons held as witnesses, whose windows are in the outer wall of the building. Nothing is safe upon the premises that they can get away with or contaminate. A wall is not only necessary for the more complete protection of the building and property and greater security of the prisoners, but also to provide a suitable yard for giving the inmates an opportunity to exercise in the open air. The present arrangements afford no such opportunity. At present the institution is necessarily self-reliant, and depends for security and protection entirely upon the strength of the building and the efficiency of the officers in charge. Such a dependence can not be relied on at all times. The cost of a suitable inclosure would depend upon the plan, dimensions, and also material to be adopted for its construction, and therefore can not now be estimated by me. I trust, however, that the attention of Congress will be called to this matter, and that proper efforts will be made to obtain an appropriation and suitable provisions for this improvement. In the mean time another guard, in addition to the present force, should be provided to do outside duty at night around the jail and jail premises. This I most respectfully recommend to be done, believing, as I do, that no part of the present force can with propriety be withdrawn from inside duty and detailed for such purpose.

One hundred and twenty-two convicts have been transported from the jail to the Albany county penitentiary, at Albany, in the State of New York. The actual expenditure connected with their transportation was $2,249.55. Last year the number of convicts so transported was 83; an excess of this year's number over that of last year of 39. The amount of the salaries of guards and other subordinate officers and employés was $23,700, or about the same as last year. A telephone has been in use at the jail at a cost of $108, and a box at the city post-office at a cost of $16.

The other expenses of the institution were as follows:

Subsistence .....	$8,693.12
Beds, bedding, and clothing .....	1,922.08
Fuel .....	2,467.99
Gas and lights .....	593.97

Hardware, tinware, and dishes .....	239.65
Mechanical and working tools .....	60.15
Preparing for execution and services of undertaker .....	44.00

The above expenses do not vary materially from last year, but are a trifle less in the aggregate.

The total number of prisoners confined in jail during the year was 2,260. The highest number in jail on the same day was 234 and the lowest 173. The daily average was 208. At the beginning of the year there were in jail 211. There were committed during the year 2,049; discharged, 2,040; leaving in jail at the close of the year 220. The convicts transferred to the penitentiary consisted of 15 white males, 1 white female; 99 colored males, 7 colored females. One colored male was executed for the crime of murder. The number sentenced to serve terms in jail was 1,198. Of these 167 were white males, 7 were white females; 845 were colored males, and 179 were colored females. The crimes of which those sent to the penitentiary were convicted were as follows:

In closing, I desire to express my high appreciation of the assistance rendered by Benton Russ, the deputy warden, in maintaining a satisfactory condition of the institution, of the services rendered by the jail physician in his successful treatment of the sick, and of the services of the subordinate officers generally for the good discipline that has prevailed.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN S. CROCKER,
Warden.

Attorney-General.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT, UNITED STATES JAIL,
Washington, D. C., November 1, 1889.

SIR: We have to record but one death from natural cause during the past year. This was the case of a man charged with murder, who was in the last stage of consumption. Everything that our limited accommodations would allow was done to alleviate his suffering and restore him to health. We have had during the past year an unusually large number of cases of dysentery and diarrhea (some of quite a serious character). Upon investigation I found that nearly every case was among those who had recently entered the prison, while those who were serving out long sentences were exempt. At first I feared it might be owing to the water, but on examination I found that was not the fact, thus showing that the sanitary condition of the jail was not the cause. It is greatly to be regretted that we are unable to make use of the hospitals at the jail, both large, well-ventilated and heated rooms, but, in the exposed and unprotected condition of the building, to place a prisoner there would be equivalent to giving him permission to leave. I had some fear of diphtheria in the summer, one case occurring in a newly-committed prisoner. It terminated favorably, however, and no other case was reported. I have previously called your attention to the singular fact of the few cases of delirium tremens that have been reported at the jail. Heretofore it has been the most frequent form of disease the jail physician has been called on to treat. This year not one case has been reported. The food furnished is of an excellent quality and abundant; but few complain of not receiving enough, and as soon as the complaint is heard the want is supplied. The sanitary condition of the jail is all that can be desired. Those reporting at sick-call are malingersers or those who are suffering from the class of diseases common among the inmates of prisons.

The attempt to make the jail an asylum for the insane was made the subject of a special report to you during the last year, showing the utter impossibility of such an attempt; the few cases of the kind we had were of a serious nature and source of unending trouble.

I return to you my sincere thanks for the kindness and valuable assistance you have accorded me.

Respectfully yours,

A. MCWILLIAMS,

Physician, United States Jail, District of Columbia.

General JOHN S. CROCKER,

Warden United States Jail.

EXHIBIT O.—Report of the Architect of the Capitol.

ARCHITECT'S OFFICE, UNITED STATES CAPITOL,
Washington, D. C., September 12, 1889.

SIR: Relating to the improvements and repairs made at the courthouse in the city of Washington, D. C., during the last fiscal year, I have the honor to report that the coal-vaults, authorized by the act of October 2, 1888, have been completed.

Sundry repairs to the plumbing and painting have also been made during that period, so that now the interior of the building is in good condition, but the committee, at the last session, failed to make provision for repairing and painting the exterior of the building. These improvements are needed to preserve the building from further injury, as well as to improve its appearance.

For the reasons given in my letter to your Department, dated October 8, 1888, I beg to renew the recommendations for this work.

The estimated cost of painting and repairing the exterior of the building as recommended is $2,500.

The estimated cost of the annual repairs to the building for the next fiscal year is $1,000.

I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,

EDWARD CLARK,
Architect United States Capitol.

Hon. W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General, Washington, D. C.

EXHIBIT Q.—Statement of United States Marshal Yoes, of the expenses for fees of witnesses before the United States courts for the western district of Arkansas since July, 1889.

FORT SMITH, ARK., October 25, 1889.

DEAR SIR: In answer to your request contained in letter of 12th instant, asking for a clear statement relative to the expenses incurred since July 1 for fees of witnesses, I have the honor to herewith inclose a tabulated comparative statement, which I have had prepared, of the business of our court for certain periods. There are two statements. The one contains—

- (1) The business of the court from July 1, 1888, to October 30, 1888, being the first four months of the last fiscal year.
- (2) The business of the court from July 1, 1889, to October 25, 1889, being the first four months of the present fiscal year.
- (3) The business of the court from July 1, 1888, to June 30, 1889, being the entire fiscal year, and includes the first four months named above.

The other paper contains a still more condensed statement of the business done during the same periods named in the other and gives other information, which can not well be tabulated.

From these two papers it will be seen that since the beginning of the current fiscal year (not quite four months) nearly 50 per cent. more business was transacted than in the first four months of the last fiscal year and more than three-fifths as much as during the entire previous fiscal year ending June 30, last. It will be seen further that in the more important or heavy business of the court, viz, murder and assault with intent to kill cases, this comparative per cent. is even more marked than in the other work of the court.

During the entire twelve months of the last fiscal year murder cases affecting 33 defendants were tried. Of these, 14 were convicted of murder, 14 were acquitted, and 5 convicted of manslaughter. During the first four months of that year 6 were convicted and 6 acquitted of murder and 2 convicted of manslaughter, and during a corresponding period of the current fiscal year there were 18 murder jury trials, affecting 27 prisoners, 9 of whom were convicted of murder and 9 convicted of manslaughter, which is the highest number of murder trials and the greatest number of convictions in murder cases ever experienced in this court at any one term. The same results are noticeable in cases of assault with intent to kill. All these cases were contested with unusual vigor and in each of them there were more than the usual number of witnesses.

Now as to the causes that led to this state of affairs. I might give you the reason in a very few words by saying "want of funds to try the cases when ready." While that is the principal cause, there is another which contributed its share, viz, the passage of the act of Congress diminishing the territorial jurisdiction of the court. While the effect of diminishing the business of the court by this bill has only set in now, because of the large number of cases of violations of law committed prior to the passage of the act, it did have the effect of postponing important trials because of the anticipation of a large decrease in the business of the court in the future, thereby allowing such cases more time and attention. This accounts for the presence of so many important cases upon the docket at the end of last February term. It was the term then coming on, the May term, at which all the business was to be wound up. Both sides were ready and their witnesses were summoned. Then five days before the beginning of the term notice came up from the Attorney-General's office that the witness appropriation was exhausted. Steps were taken at once to stop witnesses from coming, but the time was too short in most instances and nearly a thousand witnesses came to court only to be discharged upon entering the court-house. As stated before, a large percentage of the important cases pending were old ones, witnesses coming long distances, many of them entitled to $30 and $40 mileage. The marshal having but a few dollars in his hands, these witnesses were not paid until they returned again at this term. The forced continuance of this mass of business entailed a loss upon the Government of not less than $25,000.

When the adjourned term began, over 300 criminal cases were on the docket. There were 167 prisoners in jail (the largest number ever in there at any one time) and about 150 defendants on bond.

A large amount of this business might have been continued again and the term shortened in that way, but Judge Parker determined to clear the docket, and it has been done. There have been only 50 cases continued, and most of these are new ones brought in during the term. There are now 22 prisoners in jail awaiting trial on indictment. It is conceded that from this time forward this court, owing to its diminished jurisdiction, will not have more than half of its usual amount of business, and the amount of money required for witnesses will be less than half on account of shorter mileage. In my opinion, less than $50,000 will cover the expense for witnesses for the remainder of the current fiscal year to June 30, 1890.

I have had the statements prepared (which took some time) and have gone into detail in this letter in order that you might have all the light possible in this matter and understand the situation fully. I will add that the greatest economy was practiced in the disbursement of these funds. Not a witness was kept a moment longer than actually necessary. In some instances where the witnesses lived close by and the court unable to try at that time, they were sent home two and three times during the term and their cases set ahead. Thus the accumulated work of nine months was disposed of in less than half that time. My disbursements for witnesses since July 1, to date, amounts to $64,113.55. The remainder of the $75,000 is now on hand. Upon examination it will be found that, while the business done during the last four months is 50 per cent. greater than the corresponding period of last fiscal year, the expense for witnesses was larger at that time.

In giving my estimate of the witness expense in the future I desire to accompany it with the proviso if funds to pay the expenses of the court is furnished promptly; otherwise, the same state of affairs existing at the beginning of this fiscal year will occur again.

I trust I have made myself plain and that the explanation will prove satisfactory, but if there are any points upon which you desire other and more information I shall take great pleasure in answering it as best I can.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

JACOB YOES,
